

WANDONG HISTORY GROUP

How lucky are we to live here, the weather for our ANZAC Day service was fantastic, the park looked amazing, credit to the council ground crew for having it looking lovely and a huge crowd in attendance.

This year we focused on remembering the eight airmen who perished in the line of duty on Mount Disappointment. While we love our mountain it can be a dangerous place and for the families who lost their loved ones there a difficult place. As a community we need to remember that although those men did not live here, they are as much a part of us as anyone else who lives in and loves this place.

Huge thank you to the Wandong Primary School, not only did we have the immense pleasure of attending the school service but had the assistance of the school leaders for our community service, a fantastic bunch of children and absolute pleasure to be around.

Also big thanks to everyone else who helped, the Community Group for manning the sausage sizzle, the Sikh community for the mountains of delicious pasta, and all those who made the day work. It's a big effort with everything having to be transported back and forth from the park so every helping hand is very much appreciated.
